SHERIFF OF FORSYTH COUNTY

Sheriff William T. Schatzman was first elected sheriff in 2002, and is serving in his third elected term. He exemplifies the spirit of “law enforcement,” not because of his 24-year career in the FBI but from what he learned from his family. His father was a veteran of law enforcement and public service who retired as a Major in the Connecticut State Police. The spirit of service to the community was instilled in the Sheriff from the beginning and it has stayed with him.

The Sheriff’s law enforcement career began in 1970 when FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover hired him as Special Agent. During his service with the FBI, the Sheriff investigated violations of federal law and foreign espionage matters. As a senior agent and manager, he trained and supervised other special agents in all aspects of FBI work. He was the FBI Police Training Coordinator for North Carolina directing the training provided by the FBI to local law enforcement.

Sheriff Schatzman received numerous personal awards and commendations from FBI Director Hoover and the other FBI Directors for whom he worked. He received recognition for solving bank robberies, supervising drug undercover operations directed at organized crime, breaking white collar crime cases and organizing and directing task force cases using local law enforcement.

Sheriff Schatzman retired from the FBI in 1994 and founded Schatzman & Associates, LLC, to assist corporate clients with physical security and risk management. Schatzman and Associates also provided investigative support to law firms engaged in both civil and criminal litigation.

Sheriff Schatzman is very active in the community and throughout North Carolina. He serves on numerous boards and committees and has received numerous awards and recognition for his service.

The Sheriff is a member of the North Carolina Sheriffs’ Association (NCSA) and sits on the Legislative and Law and Order Committees that help manage the operation of the association. He is also the NCSA representative on the North Carolina State Emergency Response Committee and the North Carolina Law Enforcement Information Sharing and Analysis Center.

Sheriff Schatzman graduated from Quinnipiac University where he received his Bachelor of Science in Business. He served three years in the United States Marine Corps.

History of Forsyth County and The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office

In 1738 the Office of the Sheriff, as it is known today, was created in the Colony of North Carolina by the Governor. Although sheriffs were initially appointed to the position, the Office of the Sheriff became an elected position in 1829. The Sheriff's Office is generally active in all three branches of criminal justice: law enforcement, courts, and corrections. Thomas Jefferson wrote in his The Value of Constitutions, "The Office of Sheriff is the most important of all the executive offices of the county." There is no non-religious office (with the exception of king) in the English speaking world that is older than the Sheriff's Office. The Office of Sheriff in North Carolina is constitutionally mandated. It is an elected law enforcement office. The Office of the Sheriff is the chief law enforcement agency of the county. Jurisdiction is county wide, including municipalities, where the Sheriff's Office provides assistance and support to local law enforcement agencies.

Forsyth County began as a Moravian settlement in 1753 when Bishop August Gottlieb Spangenberg acquired a hundred-thousand acre tract of land from Lord Granville, one of the lord proprietors of North Carolina. The Moravians called their land Wachovia after the Austrian estate of Count Nicholas Lewis von Zinzendorf, an early protector of the Moravian Church. Forsyth County is located in the Piedmont area of central North Carolina

In 1849, the North Carolina Legislature created the new county of Forsyth out of part of Stokes County. In 1851, the town of Winston was named as the county seat. The North Carolina General Assembly honored Colonel Benjamin Forsyth by naming the new county for him. Col. Forsyth was a respected landowner in Stokes County and a distinguished military commander who was mortally wounded during the War of 1812. In 1875 the Reynolds family had established their tobacco manufacturing operation in Winston-Salem. The Richard Joshua Reynolds (RJ Reynolds®) Tobacco Company eventually evolved into one of the largest manufacturers and distributors of tobacco products world-wide. Over the years the Reynolds family became synonymous with Winston-Salem as a result of being the largest employer for many years and constructing many of the current buildings which comprise downtown Winston-Salem. In addition, the Reynolds family contributed to the well-being of the citizens of the county by establishing grants, endowments and philanthropic gifts of money and land for educational, medical and recreational facilities.

The 2010 National Census established a population of 350,670 for Forsyth County. Ethnic demographics indicate approximately 58.7% of the population is Caucasian, 25.5% African-American, 11.9% Latino, 1.8 Asian, and 2.1% identified as "Other". The predominant industries and employers within the county are food, tobacco, apparel, and furniture manufacturing, textiles, wholesale/retail, medical, and service related businesses. However, in recent years the furniture, textile and apparel industries have been reduced due to the movement of manufacturing operations to Latin America and China. As a result, Forsyth County authorities are engaged in efforts to attract new and diversified businesses to the area. Interstates I-40 and I-85 traverse east and west within the county whereas I-77 travels roughly south and north through the county. Current unemployment in the county is approximately 11%.

The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office was established in 1849 and has enjoyed a long line of colorful and distinguished sheriffs. In recent history, notable sheriffs such as Ernie Shore served from 1936 to 1970. He was a former major league baseball player and remained in office longer than any other Forsyth County Sheriff. Manly Lancaster served from 1970-1984 and was a highly decorated World War II Glider Pilot. Preston Oldham was appointed sheriff in 1984 and served until 1990. He was a dedicated officer who was instrumental in starting the first narcotics unit for the agency. Ron Barker was sheriff from 1990-2002. He was a graduate of Wake Forest University and a former teacher who served 28-years in the agency, the last 12 as sheriff.

The current sheriff, William T. Schatzman, was first elected in 2002. He is a retired FBI Agent who was assigned to the Forsyth County region before his tenure as sheriff. Sheriff Schatzman championed initial Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA) accreditation for the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office. Initial Accreditation was achieved in 2010 and the agency is seeking reaccreditation in 2013. Sheriff Schatzman has guided the agency in implementing modern law enforcement technologies and techniques, comprehensive professional training and incorporated the first professional promotional system into the agency.

STAFF MEMBERS OF THE YEAR

Holly Sykes was named 2011 Civilian Staff Member of the Year. She eagerly took on the responsibility and challenge of learning the duties of the Pistol Permit Unit in order to assist them when minimal staffing was an issue. Holly greets citizens with professionalism and quickly learns job responsibilities with ease. When given any opportunity to work or learn additional duties, Holly is usually the first person to volunteer. Her work ethic has proven to be a valuable asset to the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office.

Deputy Jeffrey M. Boysel was named 2011 Sworn Law Enforcement Officer of the Year. In the early hours of March 9, 2011, he responded to the area of northbound US Highway 421 near Martin Luther King, Jr. Drive on a report that a pick-up truck was traveling southbound on 421 in the northbound lanes. Deputy Boysel risked his own life, putting himself in harm's way in an attempt to stop this dangerous driver by being the lead vehicle in a rolling road block. His selfless actions ultimately were responsible for stopping this driver, who was intoxicated and posed a serious threat to the public.

PFC William R. Reynolds was named 2011 Detention Officer of the Year. On October 1, 2011, PFC Reynolds responded to a radio call from an LEDC Housing Unit regarding an officer engaged in a fight with an inmate. Upon arriving he observed the officer being beaten in the upper body. PFC Reynolds was attempting to enter when the inmate sprayed him directly in the eyes with O.C. spray. He engaged the inmate and took him to the floor, ensuring that the other officer could exit the area without being further assaulted and injured.

RUFUS W. DALTON AWARD

The Rufus W. Dalton Trust was established by a bequest in 1983 from Rufus W. Dalton, to recognize and assist officers who are injured in the line of duty or the spouses and children of those who are killed in the performance of their duties. The chosen recipient is given a cash award along with a prestigious medal. The trust is administered by the Winston-Salem Foundation, in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office is proud to announce that Sergeant D. Huttar and Sergeant T. Anderson are recipients of the 2011 Rufus Dalton Award. Forsyth County Sheriff William T. Schatzman presented the award on Friday, May 11, 2012.

On October 1, 2011, Sergeant Huttar was attacked by an inmate in the Forsyth County Law Enforcement Detention Center. Sergeant Huttar was beaten and kicked repeatedly, sustaining numerous injuries to his head and body. During the assault, the inmate seized and discharged Sergeant Huttar's pepper spray against him. Although he did not need hospitalization, Sergeant Huttar received emergency and outpatient treatment for numerous visible injuries and contusions to his face and body. Sergeant Huttar chose to return to work the following day and was able to fully and professionally discharge his duties despite the physical and psychological trauma he suffered as a result of this critical line-of-duty incident.

Sergeant Anderson was struck by a vehicle while directing traffic at Jefferson Elementary School in the 4600 block of Robinhood Road on March 23, 2011. He was transported to Forsyth Medical Center where he was treated and released. Although Sergeant Anderson was not hospitalized, he received emergency and outpatient treatment for a severe left calf contusion in addition to injuries to his lower leg. He also received physical therapy during his rehabilitation and was dependent upon crutches for approximately four weeks. Upon his return to the Sheriff's Office, Sergeant Anderson was assigned to light duty and did not return to full duty until June 8, 2011.

COMMUNICATIONS

Forsyth County Sheriff's Office is the primary Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP) for county law enforcement. The numbers below reflect calls with nothing such as cancelled, duplicate, or referred calls removed. The Telecommunicator receives the call and has to dispose of the call by referring it to another agency, cancelling the call, or dispatching the call to our service area. As landline 911 emergency calls have decreased, wireless emergency calls have increased over the past four years.
