FORSYTH COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE
ONE TEAM ONE MISSION

Sheriff William T. Schatzman

Sheriff William T. Schatzman was first elected Sheriff in 2002, and is serving in his third elected term. He exemplifies the spirit of “law enforcement,” not because of his 24-year career in the FBI but from what he learned from his family. His father was a veteran of law enforcement and a public servant who retired as a Major with the Connecticut State Police. The spirit of service to the community was instilled in the Sheriff from the beginning and it has stayed with him.

The Sheriff’s law enforcement career began in 1970 when FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover hired him as a Special Agent. During his service with the FBI, the Sheriff investigated violations of federal law and foreign espionage matters. As a senior agent and manager, he trained and supervised other special agents in all aspects of FBI work. He was the FBI Police Training Coordinator for North Carolina directing the training provided by the FBI to local law enforcement.

Sheriff Schatzman received numerous personal awards and commendations from FBI Director Hoover and the other FBI Directors for whom he worked. He received recognition for solving bank robberies, supervising undercover drug operations directed at organized crime, breaking white collar crime cases and organizing and directing task force cases using local law enforcement.

Sheriff Schatzman retired from the FBI in 1994 and founded Schatzman and Associates, LLC, to assist corporate clients with physical security and risk management. Schatzman and Associates also provided investigative support to law firms engaged in both civil and criminal litigation.

Sheriff Schatzman is very active in the community and throughout North Carolina. He serves on numerous boards and committees and has received numerous awards and recognition for his service. The Sheriff is a member of the North Carolina Sheriffs’ Association (NCSA) and sits on the Legislative and Law and Order Committees that help manage the operation of the association. He is also the NCSA representative on the North Carolina State Emergency Response Committee and the North Carolina Law Enforcement Information Sharing and Analysis Center.

Captain Scott Miller

In 1994, Captain Miller became a reserve deputy with the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office and accepted a full-time position in 1997. During his tenure with the agency, he has been assigned to the Patrol Section, Community Policing and the Investigative Services Division. Captain Miller is currently assigned as commander of the Professional Standards and Inspections Division. He is responsible for overseeing the Training Section, the Internal Affairs Section and ensuring that the Agency maintains compliance of the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA) accreditation requirements.

Internal Affairs

The Professional Standards and Inspections Division, Internal Affairs Section conducts administrative investigations and reports findings directly to the Sheriff and Chief Deputy. The division ensures fairness during each review and takes personnel misconduct seriously. The Internal Affairs Section reviews all vehicle pursuits, fleet vehicle accidents and use of force incidents involving agency staff members. Functions also include statistical analysis of reports, policy and procedure guidelines and determination of changes needed in policy or training.

Substantiated: The allegation is supported by sufficient evidence.

Unfounded: The allegation is false, not factual.

Exonerated: The incident occurred but was lawful, reasonable and justified.

Unsubstantiated: There is insufficient evidence to prove or disprove the allegation.

FYI: Retained for information purposes due to lack of specific information provided.

There were one hundred fifty (150) complaints and/or concerns reported directly to the Internal Affairs Section during 2012, 1% fewer than in 2011. Many of the complaints and/or concerns investigated were agency initiated not involving a citizen reporting a complaint. Sixty-four (64) or 42.6% of investigations were handled by the employee's chain of command and eighty-six (86) or 57.3% were handled by the Internal Affairs Section.

In 2012, the Professional Standards and Inspections Division implemented measures to increase data collection for statistical purposes.

Agency Accreditation

The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office voluntarily enrolled in the Commission on Accreditation of Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA) accreditation program in 2007. Initial accreditation was subsequently approved by CALEA in July of 2010 after the FCSO demonstrated compliance with all appropriate accreditation standards. The FCSO is currently completing all required activities in order to receive reaccreditation in July of 2013.

CALEA is governed by a Commission Board of 21 members with a majority being professional law enforcement practitioners. The Commission Staff manages the accreditation process, provides guidance to agencies, conducts training and serves as liaison between law enforcement agencies and the Commission. The Commission Board members are the approving authority for awarding or deferring accreditation for candidate agencies.

Key to law enforcement accreditation are the 484 standards which address nine major law enforcement areas critical to law enforcement operations: (1) roles, responsibilities, and relationships with other agencies; (2) organization, management, and administration; (3) personnel structure; (4) personnel process; (5) law enforcement operations; (6) operations support; (7) traffic operations; (8) detainee and court-related activities; (9) auxiliary and technical services.

This voluntary accreditation process is considered an essential management model that guides the agency through organization growth, challenges, and change. The accreditation process is not viewed simply as an event that occurs every three years, but rather as an ongoing quality performance review of the agency conducted by independent CALEA assessors.

Some of the benefits of participating agencies are: (1) requires an agency to develop comprehensive written directives which provide operational and administrative guidance; (2) formalizes essential management procedures and assists an agency in making fact-based and informed management decisions; (3) requires an agency to develop and implement a preparedness program to address natural or man-made unusual occurrences; (4) establishes a means of improving upon an agency's relationship with the community; (5) strengthens an agency's accountability, both within the agency and the community, through a continuum of standards that clearly define authority, performance and responsibilities; (6) limits an agency's liability risk as the agency is able to demonstrate compliance with internationally recognized professional law enforcement standards as verified by CALEA; (7) assists in establishing and maintaining fair and nondiscriminatory personnel practices; (8) assists an agency in the pursuit of professional excellence.

Training

The Training Section is responsible for developing and administering training programs and coordinating training through outside agencies, institutions and private vendors for all staff members assigned to the Enforcement, Detention and Administrative Bureaus. Training is considered the foundation of professional law enforcement and must be conducted in accordance with the highest professional standards. The agency has an established Training Committee to assist in accomplishing agency training initiatives and provide standardization of lesson plans, provide input from staff members in all divisions, and delineate training duties and responsibilities. The Training Section also oversees BLET sponsorships and internships, which provide support for potential law enforcement candidates.

Winston-Salem/ Forsyth County Joint Firearms Training Center

In March of 2012, the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Joint Firearms Training Center was opened. This new facility was funded jointly by Forsyth County and the City of Winston-Salem. In an agreement between both parties, Forsyth Technical Community College was also granted use of the range for their Basic Law Enforcement Training program.

The training center houses two separate indoor and climate controlled firing ranges, one fifty (50) yards long and the other one hundred (100) yards long. Each range can accommodate twelve (12) shooters at a time and targets can be turned individually or as a group. In addition, there are targets that move while shooting. All targets are controlled from a control booth or from an Apple iPad on the range floor. Lights can also be controlled from both places and can be dimmed or turned on and off as needed. Strobe lights, similar to those on emergency vehicles, are mounted on the ceiling and can be turned on for training simulations. Large garage doors at each range allows for the movement of equipment or vehicles into the range for specialized training. Each range has its own armory, gun cleaning area, storage and range controls. The facility also contains two classrooms which can be expanded to one large classroom as needed.

This state-of-the art facility has allowed officers to be trained to a higher standard. Officers now get additional training in combat techniques and skills that help ensure they are better qualified to protect themselves and the public they serve. Since moving into the new range facility, firearms training has been expanded to include scenarios with vehicles, multiple targets, mixed shoot/no shoot targets, faster and more efficient reloading, newer techniques for shooting with flashlights, safe movement around other officers, and better use of cover. As training continues, there will be additional opportunities to make each officer more proficient and better trained to save lives.

Sheriff's Citizens Patrol

Volunteering with Pride

The mission of the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office Volunteer program is to develop a strong partnership between the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office and the community it serves. One of the ways this is accomplished is through the Sheriff's Citizens Patrol. This program introduces community members to local law enforcement and gives them an opportunity to learn how it operates.

Through a 10-week training program, participants are informed about aspects of law enforcement, such as patrol operations, court security, community policing, etc.

Currently there are 32 dedicated volunteers in the Sheriff's Citizens Patrol program. They perform many critical assignments as volunteers and in doing so, have saved substantial tax payer resources in this time of reduced resources for county government entities.

This year the FCSO Volunteers have contributed a total of 9,406 hours of volunteer time to the agency and the citizens of Forsyth County. This represents an increase of 6% over the 8,889 volunteer hours contributed last year. The 2012 IRS guideline for the fair valuation of volunteer time is $21.79 per hour. This means the total value of all the hours our volunteers contributed this year comes to a total of $204,950 of real and measurable value to this agency and the citizens of Forsyth County.

Explorer Program

The Law Enforcement Explorer program provides young adults interested in law enforcement comprehensive unit training, competition, service and practical experiences. Character development, physical fitness, good citizenship and patriotism are integral components of the program. The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office has a cadre of dedicated law enforcement professionals that administer this program at the direction of Sheriff William T. Schatzman. Eligible applicants must have completed the 8th grade and be between the ages of 14 and 20 years old. Criminal Investigations Section and Narcotics Unit

The Criminal Investigation Section (CIS) is committed to providing exceptional investigative services to the citizens of Forsyth County. The Section is responsible for conducting investigations for all categories of major crimes against persons and property, apprehending suspects, and preparing cases for prosecution. Investigators work closely with other local, state and federal law enforcement agencies and shares information concerning ongoing investigations. CIS major crime investigations include, but are not limited to, homicide and other violent crimes against persons, organized crime, vice, white collar crimes, sex crimes, corruption, theft, property damage and complex financial crimes. The Section takes a proactive approach to solve crime utilizing advanced technology and forensics, but relies on assistance from the community to provide investigative information and leads during the investigative process. The Section is also responsible for criminal intelligence information. It functions to gather, organize, assess, disseminate and store criminal intelligence information on criminals, radical groups or gangs who pose a threat to the Forsyth County community. The CIS is an active member of the Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) task force. In this roll, Investigators work in cooperation with federal, state and local law enforcement organizations to investigate crimes against children where the internet is used to disseminate child pornography or is used as a resource to meet with children with the intent of satisfying sexual motives.

The primary objective of the Narcotics Unit is to reduce or eliminate possession, manufacture, distribution and/or illegal use of drugs by conducting interviews, obtaining intelligence, confidential source information, and carrying out undercover operations that lead to arrest and successful prosecution of those involved in illicit drug activities. The Narcotics Unit works closely with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies due to the frequency of these offenders operating in multiple jurisdictions and often other states. This unit not only seeks prosecution of narcotic offenders, but also seizes hundreds of thousands of dollars in drug money that is transferred for use of purchasing necessary law enforcement equipment resulting in a savings to tax payers.

School Resource Officers

The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office School Resource Officer (SRO) program was established in 1974, making it the longest continuing SRO program in North Carolina. The SRO program has proven to be extremely successful in reducing criminal incidents in our schools. At the present time, the SRO program consists of one Sergeant, one K-9 Corporal, one roving officer, three high school SROs and two middle school SROs. These School Resources Officers serve all eleven Forsyth County elementary schools located outside the city limits of Winston-Salem and Kernersville. The SRO program has two nighttime SRO officers who handle all school alarm activations between the hours of 6 p.m. and 5:30 a.m., seven days a week, within all areas of Forsyth County and the incorporated municipalities.

The type of situations that School Resource Officers handle on a regular basis are weapons on school campus, simple affray, assaults, drug violations, child abuse, trespassing, gang activity, involuntary and voluntary mental commitments, and sex offenses. School Resource Officers coordinate security for all sporting events and special programs at their assigned school. They also discuss and counsel students and parents on law enforcement related matters.

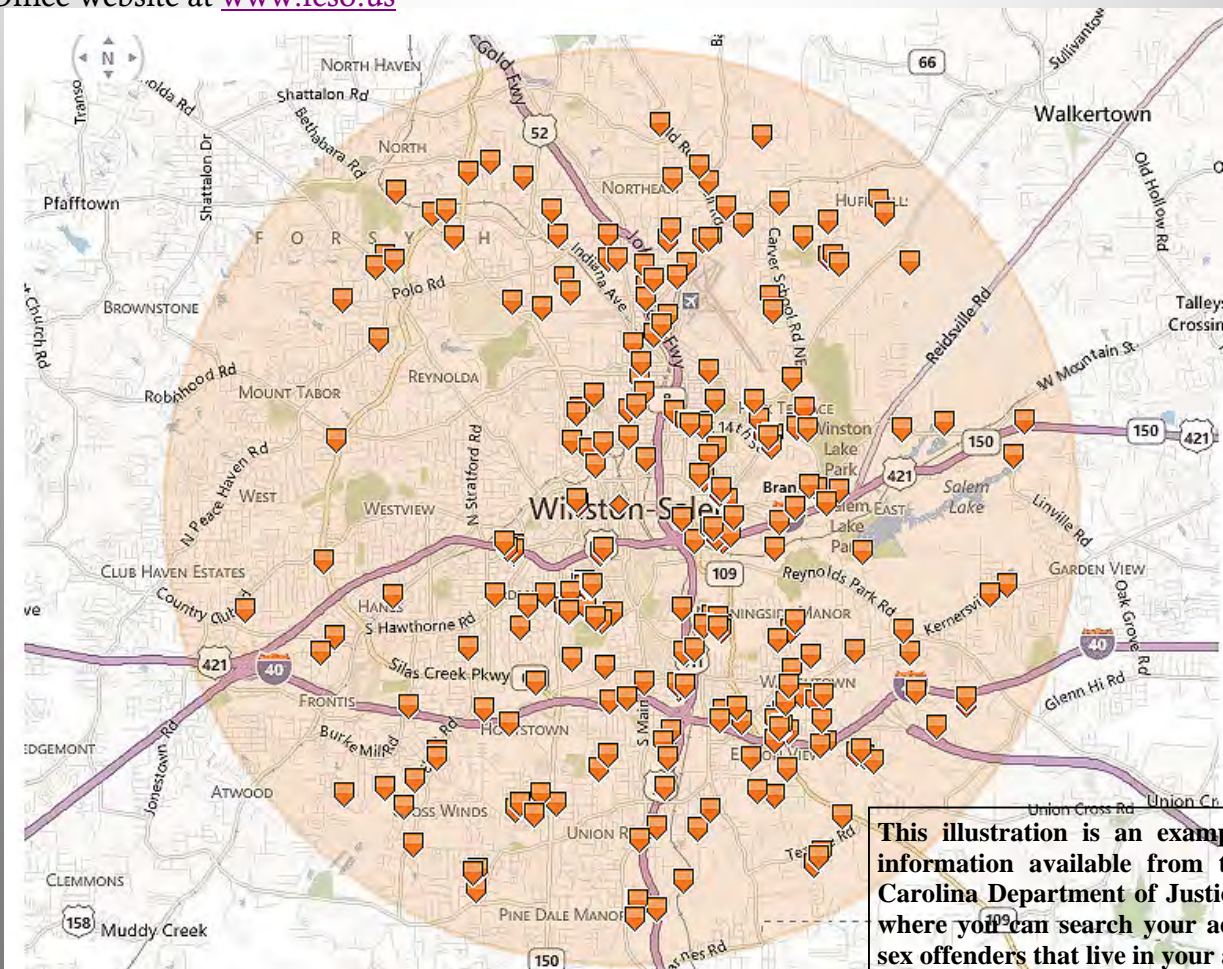

Sex Offender Registry Unit

The Forsyth County Sheriff's Office Sex Offender Registry Unit is charged to meet compliance with Article 27A of the North Carolina General Statutes. Specifically, this is the registration of persons convicted of a sex offense or certain offenses against minors, and the enforcement of applicable statutes. The unit also serves as a liaison between the public and law enforcement concerning applicable laws or inquiries about registered offenders.

The unit is staffed by one full-time investigator, two administrative assistants and two part-time deputies. As of December 31, 2012, there were 559 sex offenders registered in Forsyth County, and 86 of those offenders were in custody for various offenses, including new sex offenses.

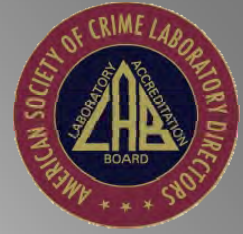

The unit conducts random checks on registered offenders in Forsyth County to ensure compliance with the requirements of the registry. As offenders update their information, the unit will add that information to "The North Carolina Sex Offender & Public Protection Registration Programs" website which is available to the public. <http://sexoffender.ncdoj.gov/> This site is maintained by the North Carolina Department of Justice and the State Bureau of Investigation. Information can also be obtained via the Sheriff's Office website at www.fcsso.us

This illustration is an example of the information available from the North Carolina Department of Justice website where you can search your address for sex offenders that live in your area.

Civil Process/Domestic Violence

The Constitution of North Carolina, the North Carolina General Statutes, and the Common Law of England are primary sources that empower the Office of the Sheriff to serve (enforce) all Civil Orders issued by the Courts. Enforcement includes the entire County of Forsyth including within the City of Winston-Salem and Kernersville. In addition to criminal and traffic enforcement training, deputies assigned to the Civil Section receive extensive training and experience specific to civil laws and procedures.

The Civil Section consists of four units: Process Service, Evictions, Executions, and Domestic Violence.

Process Service Unit - Deputies assigned to the Process Service Unit serve a wide variety of Court Orders to include: Summons, Subpoenas, Notices of Hearings, Orders to Show Cause, Orders for Arrest, and Child Custody Orders. During the 2012 year, the Process Service Unit received 39,312 Court Orders for service. There were 402 defendants arrested for failure to pay Court ordered child support.

Evictions Unit – Deputies assigned to the Evictions Unit primarily serve Magistrate Summons for “Summary Ejectments” and “Writs of Possession for Real Property.” These are Court Orders that notify and order a tenant/homeowner that they are being evicted (removed) from their residence, usually due to failure to pay their rent/mortgage. During the 2012 year, the Evictions Unit received 17,114 of these orders.

Executions Unit – Deputies assigned to the Executions Unit primarily serve orders of the Court that involve the seizure of assets to satisfy a monetary judgment. Staff Members of the Year

Deputy Sorrell was chosen to be the 2012 Sworn Staff Member of the Year. On October 4, 2012, Deputy Sorrell responded to a Disturbance with Weapons call. Upon arrival, Deputy Sorrell found two females on the front porch of the residence who claimed that the disturbance had been defused and the subject was inside. As Deputy Sorrell exited his marked patrol vehicle, he saw a male subject walk towards him from behind the residence carrying an AK-47 assault rifle and took aim at Deputy Sorrell. Deputy Sorrell quickly took cover behind his vehicle, notified Sheriff's Office Communications of the situation and gave orders to the subject. Soon thereafter, gunshots were exchanged and the subject retreated to the woods behind the residence. Deputy Sorrell used this opportunity to perform a tactical retreat and took cover at a safer location until back up arrived. The subject was taken into custody without injury. Even after he was faced with gunfire and his vehicle was struck by multiple high power rifle rounds, Deputy Sorrell was able to maintain his composure and clearly communicated with responding units. Deputy Sorrell's training, instinct and ability to perform under pressure saved his life and the lives of others.

Detention Officer Huskins was selected as the 2012 Detention Staff Member of the Year. He is currently assigned to work in the facilities general population, dorms and control rooms. Detention Officer Huskins' diligent attention to detail has helped him discover and seize contraband, which could undermine the maintenance of a safe and secure detention setting. Controlling contraband is an essential element of effective and safe management and is broadly described as any item that inmates are not allowed to possess. Officers indispensably, necessary to the perseverance of safety and security, make routine searches to remove anything that can damage or promote unhealthy or unsanitary conditions. The control of contraband is a very serious policy in the Detention Center. Detention Officer Huskins' dedication to providing a safe and secure environment at the Detention Center distinguishes him as Detention Staff Member of the Year.

Staff Members of the Year

Mrs. Patty Dalton volunteered 827 hours to the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office in 2012. There are many dedicated volunteers in the Sheriff's Citizen Patrol Volunteer Program. However, Patty Dalton is the absolute personification of the ideal volunteer. She provides leadership and mentors many of the other volunteers. Because of her willingness to help others and dedication to the agency, she is the 2012 Volunteer of the Year.

Several commanders and managers are quick to ask for Patty by name as she has always demonstrated professional competence, attention to detail and the ability to maintain confidentiality at all times. She has provided assistance to areas in the Courtroom, CALEA Office, Sex Offender Registry, Training Section, Human Resources, Records Unit and Administrative Services Division. She has worked many of the Crime Prevention events, to include parades, Dixie Classic Fair, Clemmons Day and other community events.

Robin Ellis, the Administrative Assistant to the Investigative Services Division, is the 2012 Civilian Staff Member of the Year. Robin has gone above and beyond her duties and responsibilities by assisting with precious metals investigations. These types of investigations are very tedious and time consuming for just one Investigator to do. Robin took the task of organizing portfolios and keeping accurate and annual records that were needed to help the agency investigate potential violations.

Robin calls victims of property crimes not assigned to an Investigator to seek additional information. This is very beneficial in that she is able to help assist getting information such as serial numbers, and make and model of items that were taken, as often victims will remember additional information later. She developed a questionnaire to assist her in getting the additional information from victims. During this time, she is able to explain the investigative process for property crimes to victims, and explain how the victims should contact the Sheriff's Office should they recall additional information.

Robin has maintained a great working atmosphere and is always a pleasure to work with. She goes the extra mile when needed and will stay late when requested. She is very willing to help all personnel within the Investigative Services Division. Robin is truly an asset to the Sheriff's Office and the citizens of Forsyth County.

Rufus Dalton Award

The Rufus W. Dalton Award was established to recognize and assist officers who are injured in the line of duty or the spouses and children of those who are killed in the performance of their duties. The chosen recipient is given a cash award along with a prestigious medal. The trust is administered by the Winston-Salem Foundation, in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

On May 10, 2012, Lieutenant Mark Elliott received information that a wanted robbery suspect was in the area of the 700 block of Ferrell Court in Winston-Salem. Lt. Elliott, along with other members of the Sheriff's Office, responded to the area in an attempt to locate the suspect. Once in the area, the suspect was located by officers and attempted to flee. During the arrest of the suspect, Lt. Elliott and another deputy tackled the subject to the ground at which point Lt. Elliott injured his right leg.

Lt. Elliott was transported by ambulance to Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center where it was determined that his right leg was shattered. Lt. Elliott remained hospitalized for approximately ten days and had to have reconstructive surgery to his leg.

Upon his release from the hospital, he was originally confined to a wheelchair and had to begin physical therapy to regain the use of his leg. He had to be again hospitalized due to complications from the first surgery that required a second surgery and an additional extended hospital admission. Lt. Elliott began physical therapy whereby he had to then be transported back to the hospital for a life threatening issue with blood clots that required an extended stay in the Intensive Care Unit.

Despite the many setbacks, Lt. Elliott has continuously maintained a positive attitude and demonstrated incredible courage, faith and determination. In October of 2012, Lt. Elliott was able to return to work on a modified duty basis while he continued with his physical therapy.
