Summary of Approved Activities

Kaleideum, an interactive science and children's museum in Winston-Salem, NC, will deliver STEM programming that will, over time, cultivate a pervasive culture of confident problem-solvers in the greater Winston-Salem area who are proficient with the skills needed to be successful STEM careers. PRISM engages K-12 children in scaffolded challenges and provides mentoring opportunities for adults studying and working in innovation, engineering, and manufacturing fields. Additionally, Prism helps address learning loss experienced by our county's most vulnerable students because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The goals of Prism are to nurture an ethos of engineering and innovation in the greater Winston-Salem area; increase the number of students who choose – and have the skills and experience needed to succeed in – technology, engineering, manufacturing, and innovation as fields of study and subsequent careers; recruit individuals who are typically underserved and underrepresented in STEM — girls, Black and Hispanic students, and students from low socioeconomic status households — resulting in program diversity that represent the fabric of our community; create a self-perpetuating system where local talent is committed to investing in and mentoring the next generation; address learning loss resulting from COVID-19 shutdowns of Forsyth County and potential continued disruptions related to surges in new infections through high-quality STEM education that support and enhances that which is received through the public schools.
